COFFEE BREAKS

Short Stories

CAROL WHITE

“Bittersweet slice-of-life stories, brewed perfectly to be savored with coffee or your drink of choice.” —Mary Yuhas, Harvard Square Editions columnist

Carol White's Coffee Breaks is a collection of thirteen short stories plus a bonus novelette for dessert. Slice-of-life stories run the gamut from down-to-earth romance to hopeful scammers and everything in between. Escape into realistic dramas such as A Change of Plants, where Lara, an abused wife, champions through a somber situation, or laugh along with Jenna after she makes the most out of a broken engagement and called-off wedding in The Icing on the Cake. The award-winning story Gone Cat has Brooke chasing through her parents' Florida retirement community trying to locate their runaway cat. The bonus novelette, Picture You and Me, takes sibling rivalry to a whole new dimension and to a satisfying conclusion. The charming stories in Coffee Breaks have two things in common: characters who rely on prayer and inspirational guidance to shape their future paths—and well, coffee, of course!

CAROL WHITE is a seven-time award-winning novelist, playwright, and freelance writer. Her fiction, essays and columns have been published by The East Hampton Star, The Sun-Sentinel, Writers Journal, Insight for Playwrights, Working Writers, Woman's World, The Florida Writer, and others. A member of the National League of American Pen Women, South Florida Theatre League, Florida Writers Association, Florida Mystery Writers and National Women's Book Association, she is the former Executive Producer for the Boca Raton Theatre Guild. White moderates playwriting and memoir workshops, and is a popular speaker in South Florida. Visit www.carolwhitefiction.com.
